Washington, July 2.-This has been a day of almost unparalleled suspense and anxiety. From President McKinley down all through official Washington everybody has been under a tremendous strain. Tidings from Shafter have been eagerly awaited and momentarily expected, but, save a brief word on the extent of the loss yesterday, nothing came from him during the | reach the department. day concerning the progress of the bit of information coming directly to officials reached the president and Secretary Alger. It was a private dispatch, not primarily intended for them, although it came turough official channels. Briefly and expressively it told ness, briefly and expressively it con-the story of a day of terrific fighting. It was direct from the field of action as late as 4 p. m. It stated that the engagement had been in progress throughout the day; that the dead end wounded were being carried to the rear, and that the American losses were heavy.

The exact wording of the dispatch was not made known, but one of the high officials who read it said that it conveyed to him the idea of extreme tension and of a battle in flercest elements of warfare pre-

Until this came the officials were positively without a word as to wheth-er the engagement begun yesterday was continuing today. They could only speculate, some taking the view that er the engagement begun yesterday was continuing today. They could only speculate, some taking the view that the assault of yesterday had been followed by a storming of the city itself, others maintaining that Shafter's troops, spent with the terrible strain of yesterday, had paused today long enough to clear the field of its dead and wounded. It was only by this brief message, which, under oridinary circumstances, would have received little attention, that the president and his advisers were made aware that the battle was still in progress and still without definite results.

As it was, the few words relieved the suspense, but not the anxiety. One of the officials who read it said it conveyed as much hopeful information as could be expected, for he said he had not expected a victory yet. But others were far less hopeful in their views. That the battle was still raging meant that our men were passing through a fearful ordeal, having been in action now practically for 36 hours. The mere fact that the dispatch did not chronicle a decisive advantage by the American forces was construed by some officials as ominous.

NO WORD FROM SHAFTER.

NO WORD FROM SHAFTER.

So far as official dispatches were concerned, the day was utterly devoid of any information bearing on the situa-tion. Secretary Aiger said at the close of office hours that he had not resince the brief dispatches at 3 o'clock this morning, referring to losses yesterday. Secretary Long said at the same hour that nothing had come from Admiral Sampson, and in particular the secretary of the may dismissed as the secretary of the navy dismissed as groundless the rumor that word had reached him that Morro Castle had been demolished by the American squadron. General Miles was similarly without advices. At 3 o'clock he joined Secretary Aiger in the latter's office, and the two conferred for a long time and the two conferred for a long time on the military situation.

Neither the secretary nor the com-manding general underestimate the great task before the American army, with an enemy well entrenched in front with an enemy well entrenched in front of them, with Cervera's guns pouring shot and shell into our lines, and with the possibility that Spanish reinforcements have now swelled the ranks of the enemy until they are greater than the combined forces under the American military commander.

MEDICAL ASSISTANTS.

But all that the government in Washington can do is being done and done quickly. The great issue remains for General Shafter and his forces to work out to a conclusion. His call in the early day for a large additional force of medical officers was quickly responded to. The hospital ship Relief, which left New York today, was given orders before sailing to store way south in the control of the light of the ligh early day for a large additional force of medical officers was quickly responded to. It is probable that the story was due, in a degree, at least, to a long conference held during the afternoon between Secretary Alger and Major General Miles. The conference led to the report that General Miles was to go immediately to the front, probably to supersede General Shafter in command of the army of invasion. Secretary Alger informed the Associated Press emphatically that absolutely no change was to be made in the Cuban change was to be made in the Cuban plans, or was even in contemplation.

Another prominent official of the war department characterized the rumor that Shafter was to be superseded as an injustice to one of the finest officers the army ever had.

WILL SEND MORE TROOPS.

The intimation that General Miles may soon leave Washington for some point where action is expected is likely to prove true, but as yet nothing more to prove true, but as yet nothing more tangible than rumor. It is the yery evident purpose of the war officials to send more troops to Cube as soon as possible. In response to a message sent to General Shafter two days ago, a reply was received that the trans-ports now off Santiago would be sent back to Key West at the earliest fno-ment. The transports are needed to convey the additional troops to Cuba-troops that are evidently intended to reinforce Shafter's command.

Ensign Ellis and six sallors gave chase in a small boat, armed as the exigencies of the situation would permit, and ran her down, after a pursuit of six miles, pulling against the wind and a strong tide. was boarded. The pilot dove over-beard and swam ashore.

The sloop, which was flying both the Haytien and British flags, carried a crew of twelve men and was laden to her full capacity with provisions, con-sisting largely of flour.

The steamer captured was on ballast and had evidently discharged a cargo at Manzanillo. She carried a crew of 24 men and two passengers. Though she was salling under the British flag, all of the crew were Spaniards, not one of them being able to speak En-glish.

The loss on the warehouses, which contained 1.700 bales of wool and large quantities of cotton, is estimated at $120,000.

WISCONSIN A SURPRISE

WESTERNERS CAME NEAR GET-TING SECOND PLACE.

Pennsylvania's Time Was 15:511/6 Which Lowers the World's Record For Three Miles-Struggle Between Cornell and Wisconsin-Freshman Race Won By Cornell.

Saratoga, N. Y., July 2.-The freshmen and 'varsity races of the intercollegiate rowing association were rowed this morning. The Cornell freshmen and one-half lengths ahead of Columbia, who finished second, through a ber boat slightly more than a quarter of a length ahead of the Quakers' boat. Pennsylvania, pulling the only shell used in the contest, won the 'varsity by two and one' half lengths, in the remarkable time of 15:51½. Cornell got into second place after a lively sprint with Wiscousin leading the westerners with Wisconsin, leading the westerners with Wisconsin, leading the westerners nearly a length. Columbia paddied across the line four and a half lengths behind Wisconsin.

The quadrangular race developed surprises, namely: Pennsylvania's victory over Cornell, and Wisconsin's heading of the others all through the first mile, and her remarkably good work from the standpoint of the disadvantages under which she suffered, by reason of a long journey so near the time for the race. Columbia's place in the 'varsity had been so uncertain all along that her finish was not a surprise. The freshmen rowed in almost glassy water, but the 'varsity crews had a rapidly increasing south wind at their backs, which accounts, in part, for the fast increasing south wind at their backs, which accounts, in part, for the fast time made by the winners. The freshmen finished in fairly good shape. Pennsylvania gave out perceptibly at the last in their fight with Columbia. The Cornell boys showed their condition by röwing back to their quarters, a distance of four miles. The Wisconsin 'varsity crew had to row two miles to the starting point, for the lack of a launch.

At the finish of the 'varsity race two men in the Cornell boat required a dash of water to enable them to keep their seats. The Pensylvania and Wisconsin crews finished strong, and the Columbia eight evinced considerable exhaustion.

THE 'VARSITY RACE.

The 'varsity crews were at their respective stakeboats and ready for the word as soon as the referee's boat reached the starting place, at 19:35 o'clock. At the pistol shot Columbia took the water first, with a 36 stroke, Pennsylvania second, with 46. Wisconsin third, with 38, and Cornell last, with 34. Before a half dozen lengths had been rowed the Wisconsin boys, with their "yarda" stroke, had forged to the front, and at the half mile had a lead of half a length. Cornell, who was trailing in the rear, put on a spurt and was almost on equal terms with Columbia, which was second in this way they reached the flag, which they passed with Wisconsin a length in the lead, rowing a stroke that was pushing the boat through the water at a terrific rate of speed. Pennsylvania, Cornell and Columbia were rowing a 34 stroke.

speed shown by the Wisconsin boys was a surprise to everybody. As the crews approached the second mile, Pennsylvania went up with a rush, rowing a 38 stroke, and before the twomile flag had been reached took the lead from Wisconsin. The Wisconsin boys pluckly held on to second place, rowing a 24 stroke.

It was at this juncture that Cornell brought here this morning by a prize crew under Ensign Ellis.

The little sloop Emanuel and Raoul was captured after an exciting experience. She was heading for Manzan-illo harbor, when the Hornet sent a shot across her bows, but, instead of the will be should be sh

Cornell and Wisconsin had a desperate fight over every inch of the last mile for second place, the difference being less than a length. Just before the start of the 'varsity race two or three Wisconsin men sought bets that Wisconsin would finish ahead of either Pennsylvania or Columbia. Several such bets were made, the greater portion of the money being wagered with Pennsylvania. One bet was made that Cornell would beat Wisconsin by five lengths.

Pennsylvania's time in the 'varsity—

Pennsylvania's time in the 'varsity— 15:51'2—extablishes a new record for three miles. The previous record was held by an English eight, that did the distance in 17:30.

VALUE OF CREAM.

As Compared With Meat

One of the most valuable items in one's dietary is good, rich cream. The remark is frequently made that "cream is too expensive to use freely." Such people think they must have meat every day at 10 and 25 cents per pound, and do not realize that 5 cents' worth of pure cream for breakfast will do more to put on flesh than 25 or 30 cents' worth of meat.

An ideal portion of breakfast is that An ideal portion of breakfast is that obtained from, say, four teaspoons of Grape-Nuts and a little, pure, thick cream.
